Marbled Harmonie

This tie, by "Harmonie," was "hand-woven and marbled in India". Made of silk and smelling faintly of the Ganges, it is a fine example of a tie for messy eaters

Directions

1. For best results print this tie out on an A3 colour printer onto a firm card or 120gsm white stock.
2. Cut along the dotted line and pre-fold the tabs.
3. If you are placing this tie over an existing dirty or unsightly tie, simply fold the tabs over the edges. For added strength - use a little masking tape to keep your downloaded tie in place.
4. Should you wish to use a downloaded tie and are not wearing an existing tie, we recommend that you fold the tabs over and tuck the uppermost tab (at the knot) into your shirt. If you can - be sure to leave a generous amount of paper to tuck in at the top of your shirt.
5. If you intend to re-use your downloaded tie, we recommend a light laminate to prevent soiling or stains, and for the added convenience of being able to remove spills with a damp cloth.
